“...and to practice these principles in all our affairs.”

The Twelfth Step of Alcoholics Anonymous, I believe, has three distinct parts, and I have been thinking about the third part, “...and to practice these principles in all our affairs.”

Let’s start by having a working understanding of a principle and an affair. According to the American Heritage Dictionary a principle is a rule or standard especially of good behavior, and a rule or law concerning the functioning of natural phenomena or mechanical processes. And, affairs are matters of personal or professional business, and matters of personal concern. (Continued on page 2)

All Fools Day

The Denver Area Central Committee’s Special Events Committee held a speaker’s meeting and luncheon on April 1st, All Fools Day. They had a good turn out, good food, and they ask each attendee a question, “How has Alcoholics Anonymous fooled you?” You could probably think to yourself, as I did, how have I been fooled by A.A.? The more I think about it the more things I come up with. Like, in early sobriety I thought I heard that I wasn’t supposed to get angry anymore, or that “bad” things weren’t supposed to happen to me anymore if I was doing this thing right. Some of the things that had me fooled were actually things people in A.A. had told me, and could be downright harmful. A friend of mine refers to those things as “A.A. Hazing.” Others were just a misunderstanding on my part. (Continued on page 2)

The Business of A.A.

The 62nd General Service Conference gets underway April 22nd, and runs all week until the 28th. It’s held in Rye, New York at the Ryebrooke Hilton. Our Area 10 Delegate, Gelong Tashi G., will be there to carry the collective conscience of the groups. I have asked him, as I did last year, to write us a somewhat brief summary of what happened at this year’s Conference. The decisions made, and even those not made, have an impact on all members of A.A. and I feel it is important that it be made as available to the membership as possible. Look for his report in the June issue of the Last Drop. Most likely he will be asked by your District to come in person and give a more in depth report. Contact your group’s GSR (general service representative) to find out where and when.

“...and to practice these principles in all our affairs.”

I see at least two sets of principles it asks us to practice. On one level each Step is its own principle, it's just what the Step says. For example, the third Step, “Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to god, as we understood Him.” In practice I can ask God for guidance in any given situation. That would be to practice the principle that is the Third Step. On another level each Step is made up of several different principles. In the Third Step I find Honesty, Acceptance, Faith, and Trust. There may be more, but for our purposes these will do. I can practice all those principles when practicing the Step. It seems that there are a lot of principles I get to practice.

Now, about affairs. I understand this to mean that I am to rejoin the human race. I am to go out and live among my people and be a part of society. In the course of doing this I rub up against other people, situations, and circumstances. It is in this conflict, this friction that I grow. These principles give me a way to deal with that friction in an effective, harmless way. I need people. I may not like that idea, but I do. I must go out and participate in Life if I am to be happy and healthy.

General Service in AA is a great way to “practice” using these principles in dealing with conflict. I believe conflict is a natural by-product of being alive. It is inherent in living, so I would really like to learn how to deal with it instead of trying to avoid it at all costs. Conflict is like the salesman who rings your doorbell. You can ignore him this time, but he'll be back. You might as well answer the door now and tell him the truth. The more I practice, the easier it gets. My fear of confrontation is usually based in my perceived incompetence in dealing with conflict.

In the Big Book someone mentions that a kit of spiritual tools had been laid at his feet. As with any toolbox filled with tools, one must first learn what tools are in the box. Then, one must learn what each tool does, and what its intended use is. One must also learn how, when and why to wield each of those tools. With practice one may become adept in the use of these tools. It might even become second nature and require no thought or effort to use the correct tool for the right instance at the most opportune time. One will even notice that the tools will help one use the tools. The 11th Step helps you use the 9th, the 2nd helps with the 3rd and so on.

There is a huge learning curve to all of this. It takes time to be able to use these principles in all our affairs. Hence the word “Practice.”

AAll Fools Day –

Here are some responses from the Special Events Committee's “AAll Fools Day” question, “How has A.A. fooled you?”

There was no secret handshake, and it wasn't a cult.

I thought AA was serious. I didn't know it would be fun. I also didn't know I'd meet some of my best friends in the program.

The Promises said I was going to get rich and know how to talk to women.

I came to learn how to control my drinking. AA showed me I had a living problem and drinking was my solution.

Came here because of a DUI, hung around and got sober.

Those crappy things weren't going to happen to me anymore. They still do, I just know how to handle them now.

I thought I would be stupid boring and glum if I didn't drink.

I saw a pretty girl at my first meeting. I kept coming back to see her again. I never did see her again, but I ended up hearing something while I was looking for her. I think she was a plant.

You mean there are 12 more things after the Steps? Wait, even 12 more after the Traditions?

Nobody asked me to join, and I've been going to a lot of meetings.

While trying to be big shot I really dove into the book to show everyone how smart I was. I ended up learning more about the program because of my ego.

May History

1917, May – Bill Wilson departed for officer's training at Plattsburg, NY. After eight weeks of artillery training at Ft Monroe, VA, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the 66th Artillery Corps and sent to Ft Rodman outside of New Bedford, MA.

1919, May - Bill was discharged from the Army at Camp Devens.

1921, May - Bill answered a blind advertisement in the NY Times and received a reply from Thomas Edison to come to his laboratory to take an employment test of 286 questions.

1934 - Sister Ignatia befriended Dr Thomas P Scuderi (an emergency room intern who later became Medical Director of Ignatia Hall at St Thomas Hospital). She convinced him that alcoholics were sick and accident-prone and persuaded Dr Scuderi to allow them to "rest" in the hospital prior to release. Dr Scuderi and Sister Ignatia secretly treated Bill D (later to become AA #3) prior to his meeting Dr Bob and Bill.

1941, May – Venard G., a Denver resident, went to Houston, Texas to observe the workings of an A.A. group. He returned with first-hand knowledge of A.A. meetings, pamphlets, and the desire to start A.A. meetings in Denver. He was successful at getting articles published in both the Denver Post and Rocky Mountain News. In August of that year, Venard received a letter from Fitzsimmons Hospital offering cooperation as a result of those articles.

1945 – Bill Wilson was called by Barry Leach (who would later author Living Sober) from the 41st St. clubhouse. Bill persuaded the group to take in a black man who was an ex-convict with bleach-blond hair, wearing women's clothing and makeup. The man also admitted to being a "dope fiend." When asked what to do about it, Bill posed the question, "did you say he was a drunk?" When answered, "yes" Bill replied, "well I think that's all we can ask." The man was reported to have disappeared shortly after. Anecdotal accounts erroneously say that this individual went on to become one of the best 12th Steppers in NY. This story is often erroneously intermingled with that of a 1937 incident ("year two" on the AA calendar) involving an Akron member that is discussed in the Tradition Three essay in the 12&12 (pgs 141-142).

1946 – Bill also started to feel out the board and the Fellowship on the idea of various geographical Areas coming together as an elected service conference. The board and Dr. Bob were not very enthusiastic about the idea. This marked the first suggestion for the General Service Conference.

1948, May – The Alky Ally was "almost" continuously published from May of 1948 to mid-60's. It was a 4-page monthly publication, and although an official publication of Denver's Group 1 it was printed for A.A. as a whole.

1954 - Lillian Roth (actress and nightclub singer) became the first of many celebrities to break their anonymity and announce their alcoholism and membership in AA. Her book (later movie) I'll Cry Tomorrow was a sensation. In 1955, Susan Hayward's performance as Lillian won her an Academy Award nomination. Sadly, Lillian went on to drink again and it generated bad publicity for AA. Bill Wilson engaged in a series of correspondence with notorious murderer Caryl Chessman who was on San Quentin prison's death row.
